VISIT ANNA CLIFTON AT THE NATIONAL WEDDING SHOW

Brides and grooms to be will be able to visit jewellery designer, Anna Clifton at the National Wedding Show in Birmingham next month to have their wedding jewellery and hair accessories designed to co-ordinate perfectly with their dream outfit

Anna has a degree in Jewellery and Silversmithing from the prestigious Birmingham School of Jewellery and specialises in wedding jewellery and hair accessories design. Anna always strives to create pieces that are contemporary and very different to anything else that is available to the wedding market. Anna describes her creations as pieces of “wearable art” and never starts making an item without first researching the theme it is inspired by and producing several high quality drawings in her sketch books. Anna’s pieces are well designed and always of the highest quality, whichever materials they are made with.

“... There are so many so called “tiara designers” out there with little or no training that make poor quality items that are just copies of what has been made by many others before them. High quality and good design are always my top priority when designing for the wedding market. After all, there would be nothing worse than to plan your dream day and outfit for months or even years, only to be let down by poor quality pieces that won’t even last the day. I design and make my jewellery, crowns and tiaras to both fit in with today’s contemporary fashions, yet last many years to come after the event as a beautiful reminder of a very special day...” (Anna Clifton Jan 2007)

Anna will be available throughout the show on stand E11 in the designer section to discuss your ideas and help you recreate them in gold, silver, plated or even coloured metals combined with crystals, semi precious stones or beads. She will also be showcasing several new pieces that will not have previously been available before the show.

The National Wedding Show runs from February the 16th to 18th at The National Exhibition centre in Birmingham.
